1. Study the text and note the main theme or subject. It seems to be a detailed description of something, possibly a technical or academic recount.

2. Next, identify any key phrases or terms. Phrases like "just as such..." and "in such cases..." suggest a comparison or explanation is being made.

3. Finally, consider the overall tone and purpose. The text appears to be informative, possibly aimed at explaining a concept or procedure.